Anti-protozoal drugs as a possible cause of aplastic anemia. Aplastic anemia is a potentially life-threatening hematologic disease that is most commonly idiopathic, but may also be secondary to hematopoietic stem cell transplantation, chemotherapy, or infection. We present a novel case of aplastic anemia in a patient with multiple medical comorbidities. A 20-year-old male patient presented with a 5-day history of nausea, vomiting, and abdominal pain. After routine lab testing, he was admitted to the hospital for further evaluation. His admission workup included a screening CBC and peripheral smear, basic metabolic panel, acute renal failure, and direct Coombs test. He also had extensive workup for suspected autoimmune cytopenias, including antinuclear antibody, C3, C4, anti-SS-A/Ro, anti-SS-B/La, and lupus anticoagulant. His bone marrow biopsy was consistent with aplastic anemia, and his workup for infectious, paraneoplastic,

Sep 29, 2019 I've been using an outdated license file and I keep on getting this error. Most of the fixes I've seen were due to the programs being updated to a new version or they having an outdated license file. In your case, I suspect it might be because your serial number is not yet recognized by Adobe as a legitimate serial number.

Which is exactly what this community guide explains: Adobe Encore CS6 Cannot Run In Non Royalty Serialized Mode. The application needs to be serialized with a royalty bearing serial number. contact Adobe Support. If your serial number has not been verified, you will get this error when you open the application. The error occurs when the application tries to run in the non-royalty-bearing (non-RB) serial mode. You can serialize your application by using the serialize tool that is available in CC apps. Feb 24, 2018 I have tried running the application in the non-royalty serialized mode and it does not work either. The reason is that the serial number provided by Adobes is not a licensed one. I have read that we need to contact Adobes to get it verified. They will then issue us a serialized licence and the application will run. In my case,

I don't think it is worth contacting them about since my subscription is expired and my serial number is verified.
