can change the settings and make any modifications. Unlike this where we have a big pile of data but we do not know which ones are relevant and which ones are irrelevant. But with Wine, we just need to open these files and see which ones are relevant to us as they may appear on the screen. When we click on the goblet, we have a list of the files that are in this database. There are lots of files that we can click on and see the results that we can obtain. As we can see, the results that we get are of the same format of the files that we have. We just need to tweak the settings of the database according 09e8f5149f
