research, system tests, templates and DLLs are installed with the Adaptive Cycle Toolkit. Click on its tab and you are ready to write MetaStock .n as create your own indicator in meta stock, create symbols in meta stock, how to count symbols in meta stock.n or using built-in templates.n MetaTrader5 Tools In addition to the standard features presented in the Meta-Stock header, you can increase the functionality of the MetaProfi.n GUI. The following list includes analysis tools that are unique to the US stock market but will be available to any user. Graphical analysis jini model Comparing the movement of stock prices, you can represent them in the form of a graph on a chart. Tools for displaying graphical data can be very different, for example online or in file format. This Murray model can be regarded as the most common. In graphical representation, graphical data can be divided into three components: Note that the histogram is initially fading. When moving from one period to another, it is smoothed out, as before. However, more and more histograms will appear in the future, approaching the pie line. Three zones are visible: 1. Lagging zone (green or blue area) - trend (fast dynamics, stagnation, trend) 2. Coinciding zone (red or yellow area) - current trend 3. Shear zone (yellow area with inscriptions between zones) - long-term trend (develops rapidly, weakens, develops) Figure 3. Calculation of the Gini model It is also important to add that the calculations require a database that includes all data points at each point on the time axis. Forecasts should use a large database with March 2004 data. Gillian model graph Good indicators should be used if they adequately reflect "your" mood. When a leading indicator or oscillator clearly indicates a change in trend, then indicators can also be used. Rice. 4. Graphic models. double divergence This model differs in that both positions are opened and closed, respectively, against and parallel to the trend
