The EORTC quality of life questionnaire-30 (QLQ-C30) for carcinomas of the prostate: exploring the reliability and the validity. The European Organization for Research and Treatment of Cancer Quality of Life Questionnaire-30 (EORTC QLQ-C30) was tested on 220 out-patients with prostatic carcinoma, 51 of whom received radiotherapy. The patients' clinical data were recorded from the patients' case records. Internal consistency was generally high ($\alpha = 0.85$), except for the role functioning scale ($\alpha = 0.76$). Most of the scales also exhibited high discriminant validity, as compared to the patients' Gleason grade and PSA level, and to the patient's clinical condition (Hospital Anxiety and Depression Scale), and also showed moderate convergent validity, with a very high correlation between several subscales. The EORTC QLQ-C30 also showed satisfactory responsiveness, including 1 week after the start of radiotherapy, and 12 weeks after the start of radiotherapy. The results suggest that the EORTC QLQ-C30 is a reliable and valid questionnaire for quality of life measurement in patients with carcinoma of the prostate.Q: Should I add one more space to end of string?
