Q: Trying to make a "T" that represents the 2nd sentence of the above code. Using same formula but with different variables I've looked up how to make a T arrow, but I can't seem to get the marks to line up on the sides. I've tried using the [hline], but that didn't work. For my work, I must use a "T" to represent the 2nd sentence in the code, and I must use the same formula, but with different variables in each line, (and the sentence "to" is missing). I should show what each of the lines are supposed to look like, but I can't figure out how to have the lines be this thin, and still fit in the box.
