"If you see the GFC as a hurricane, a tsunami coming into China, and the SFC as the rain, the tidal wave, the normal reaction is to fight back the tide. We want the Chinese to fight back." "Ten million players on the game in Korea equals to five hundred million in China… It's not a challenge for my company to meet the challenge." "To make Age of Wushu completely free-to-play like many other free-to-play games in Europe and the U.S. is not the purpose at all. We want this to be a fully-fledged, full-scale MMO, just like World of Warcraft. It is going to be totally free-to-play. It's just the business." "The whole idea is to have the most [number of] subscribers [as possible]… [After] the SFC, the next is the GFC in China. We have a risk that there will be a weak point where people really don't care at all. So the market risk is really a big issue." I think that's enough.
