Roblox is an online game platform and game creation system developed by Roblox Corporation that allows users to program games and play games created by other users. Created by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel in 2004 and released in 2006, the platform hosts user-created games of multiple genres coded in the programming language Lua. For most of Roblox's history, it was relatively small, both as a platform and a company. Roblox began to grow rapidly in the second half of the 2010s, and this growth has been accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Roblox is free to play, with in-game purchases available through a virtual currency called Robux. As of August 2020, Roblox had over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16. Although Roblox has received generally positive reviews from critics, it has faced criticism for its moderation, microtransactions, and exploitative practices directed toward children. As of August 2020, Roblox had over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16. Green Day frontman Billie Joe Armstrong called Roblox co-founder and CEO David Baszucki "a monster" in a recent interview for Billboard and told him to "go f*ck himself." "Stop creating," Armstrong said. "You f*cked up. You created this monster of a company. You created this monster. You've got real employees now. You're like a giant real estate company. You don't know what you're doing. Just go f*ck yourself." Armstrong's remarks came when Billboard interviewer Matthew Strauss commented on how Roblox allegedly misled its employees with the promise of a "welfare" fund for anyone laid off during the shutdown caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, which cost the company $30 million in lost revenue. "They just called everyone into a building in Palo Alto and they had, like, a table for all of their employees, and that was one of the most deceptive things that I've ever seen in my life," Armstrong said. "Just to see all these people that are just clueless, and I don't know how

1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to a method for manufacturing a semiconductor device and more particularly to a method for manufacturing a non-volatile memory device having a silicon nitride film to be used as a charge storing film in a non-volatile memory device.

2. Description of the Related Art In a non-volatile memory device such as flash memory, used is a memory cell using a charge storing film formed of a nitride film. This nitride film is formed of a silicon nitride film or a silicon oxynitride film. This silicon nitride film has a structure as shown in the following schematic cross sectional view (FIG. 1A) along the direction perpendicular to the principal surfaces of a silicon substrate. An N-type diffusion layer 10 is formed in a region isolated with an element isolation film 11 which is a part of an isolating film composed of a shallow trench isolation (STI) structure to be formed on the element separation region. A silicon oxide film 12 is formed on the entire surface of the silicon substrate as an oxide film to fill the gap between the N-type diffusion layer 10 and the element isolation film 11. A silicon nitride film 13 is formed on the whole surface of the silicon substrate. This silicon nitride film 13 is to be used as the charge storing film formed of a memory cell M. Further, a silicon oxide film 14 is formed on the whole surface of the semiconductor substrate. This silicon oxide film 14 serves as a charge injection film of the memory cell M. A silicon oxide film 15 is formed on the silicon nitride film 13 to prevent deterioration of the charge storing ability caused by an ion injection during the injection of charge or the readout of charge. Further, it is formed to reduce the contact resistance between the silicon nitride film 13 and a subsequent contact film. Further, a drain electrode 16 is formed on the N-type diffusion layer 10. Further, the oxide film 15 is formed for maintaining the film quality of a polycrystalline silicon film used as a
